

We are fed all the filtered, subliminal junk we can handle from many sources without the likes of Clear Channel owning the airwaves and owning the hearts and minds of the weak-minded who think everything that comes to them from the radio or television is the truth and nothing but the truth.

We need more voices and more sources, not fewer.

I urge you to keep the ownership rules as they presently stand and not give in to the biggies.

The concept of 1984 is alive and well in the proposed ownership rules. I'm very worried.
